

Jill Estorino

President and Managing Director,
Disney Parks International

Jill Estorino is President and Managing Director, Disney Parks International. In this role, Jill oversees the operations and development of Disney's parks and resorts outside of the United States, including Disneyland Paris, Hong Kong Disneyland, Shanghai Disney Resort and Tokyo Disney Resort with the Oriental Land Company.

Around the world, Jill's teams mix legendary guest service with storytelling, creativity and innovation to bring magical memories to life for the millions of fans and families visiting Disney parks each year.

Previously, Jill served as the Executive Vice President of Global Marketing and Sales for Disney Parks, Experiences and Products, overseeing a global team of more than 2,000 professionals responsible for innovatively promoting Disney's global destinations, products, experiences, and signature vacations.

Throughout her career with The Walt Disney Company, Jill has held a variety of site-based and global leadership roles focused on driving visitation and affinity for Disney's products and offerings. Her past roles include Senior Vice President of Marketing and Sales, Asia Pacific; Senior Vice President, Marketing Strategy; and Senior Vice President of Marketing at both Hong Kong Disneyland and the Disneyland Resort in California.

A widely sought-after speaker and thought leader on brand experience and marketing innovation, Jill is also a passionate advocate for diversity and inclusion. She serves as executive champion for several internal and external initiatives focused on elevating women in the workplace.

Jill is a member of the Disney Parks, Experiences, and Products Executive Committee, as well as the Shanghai Disney Resort and Hong Kong Disneyland Board of Directors. She also serves on the Board of Directors for the Association of National Advertisers.
